

`Vielfalt tut gut´ - Academic Support Services

Vielfalt tut gut is a programme launched by the ministry of families, senior citizens, women and youth (BMFSFJ). It is located in the field of cultural diversity and prevention of racism and xenophobia.

Univation cooperates with two evaluation institutes, the programme steering committee and the programme evaluation and offers various academic support services. Amongst others, an appraisal of the implemented projects is being carried out and best-practice examples of approaches that can help to avoid right extremist, xenophobic and anti-Semitic tendencies shall be identified as well as criteria for success, to ensure the transfer of good practices.

Contact: Susanne Giel

Source URL (modified on 17.04.2014):<https://www.univation.org/archiv/2008/03/17/vielfalt-tut-gut-academic-support-services>